BIKE SHOP OF THE MONTH: Nice Bike Shop

This month's Bike Shop of the Month is a brand new shop with familiar faces. A few of the fellows from the old Denver Spoke have gotten back together and opened the Nice Bike shop at 2435 S Broadway. With almost 60 years combined experience in the cycling industry, Todd Hunter, David Albertson and Kent Setsma are back to putting their passion into practice.

Road bikes or mountain bikes, it does not matter. Spring, summer, fall, and even winter, you can find them on the road and on the trail. Of course, if you are this passionate about riding, you've got to have the right equipment.

Kent Setsma, a disciple of the late Dong Ngo of Denver Spoke, understands the importance of what Nice Bike represents to its clients, quality equipment and quality customer service. He said, "At Nice Bike, we would never sell you anything that we ourselves would not use. Let's face it, every time you get on your bike you take your life in your hands. It is our job to give you equipment that you can trust when you hit 50 mph coming down Coal Creek or Stagecoach."

Does your bike need repairs or a tune? Nice Bike has two of the best mechanics in 20-year Denver Spoke veteran, Todd Hunter, the quintessential master mechanic. He is a USCF licensed bicycle mechanic who has been working in the bike industry for over 25 years. While not as tenured as his colleague, David Albertson is talented when it comes to the black arts of bicycle repair. With hundreds of pro bikes assembled, thousands of wheels built, suspension overhaul or rebuilding your Campagnolo shifter, David is adept at any of them.

They also have a consignment section. Why would a shop that specializes in the nicest bikes available want to carry used equipment? It's because they are dedicated to their clients. Why keep all these nice bikes cooped up, gathering dust in garages, when there are riders out there just itching to ride a nice bike. Every consignment bike will receive a rigorous 12-point inspection, new cables and housing, and a ninety-day service and fit warranty. So, if you have a nice bike that needs a loving home, or you have room in your heart for an unwanted velociped, please check their pre-owned equipment or place your spare bikes on consignment with them.

Santa Fe Century, May 13 – 16

The Santa Fe Century has been the opening supported ride for many Denverites for many years. This year I'm organizing a carpooling trip, to Santa Fe, NM. The proposed details go like this: Leave Denver on Friday, May 13th, or Sat May 14th. (Up to you) Head south to Santa Fe (About 6 hours)

There are a couple options for lodging in Santa Fe. I like to stay at the nice hotels in the center of town. But they are a bit pricey. I also know of much cheaper condos located near the start of the ride. It's your decision as to where you stay, but please contact me before you make your own reservations. As trip leader, I'll try to match roomies and car poolers.

Sunday is the ride. There are 25, 50, or 75 mile rides, in addition to the Century. The ride is mostly flat, as it all takes place on the plains south of town. (in fact, wind is always a larger concern than the climbs. Except for Heartbreak hill. The steepest 1/4 mile that you'll ever ride up) SFC is also one of the most inexpensive rides around. Century: $21 25 mile ride: $13.

And they don't sell out, so you can register the morning of the ride, if necessary.

Friday and/or Sat, we can sight-see around Santa Fe. If this is your first time, that's not enough time, but you can make a dent in it. Don't bring lots of cash if you're a compulsive art buyer. If you have landscaping projects this year, then Jackalope is a must visit. After the ride on Sunday, we'll head north to Ojo Caliente Hot Springs. Ojo Caliente is a resort and spa. The original Mission Hotel is on the National Registry of Historic Places. The other rooms are in newer Pueblo style buildings. If you looked up 'rustic Southwest Hot Springs' in the dictionary, there would be a picture of Ojo Caliente. It's impressive. After a long day in the saddle, soaking in the outdoor pools will be heaven. Since it's a spa, massages, etc. will be available.

Monday morning we'll get up, leisurely take another dip in the pools, then travel over to Taos for lunch and shopping opportunities. When too much fun has been had by all, we'll head back to Denver.

Web sites are www.santafecentury.com; ojospa.com

The above is what the trip leader has planned. Not everyone can take off Friday and/or Monday.

If you contact me, then we should be able to make arrangements to meet for part of the trip. Perhaps you wish to drive to Santa Fe on Sat morning, and return with us through Ojo Caliente. Contact me and we'll see if we can't make it work.

STEAMBOAT MEMORIAL DAY TOUR

May 27-30, 2011

120-160 miles/3 days – Options for more mileage

Rating: Intermediate to Advanced Intermediate with shorter options

Cost $175

Bicycle in the magnificent Steamboat Springs, Colorado valley and the surrounding mountains. Drive up on Friday then we'll ride over 20 Mile Road to Oak Creek on Saturday. For those who just have to have more exquisite riding, there is an option to add the Yellow Jacket Pass loop. This is a 55 - 60 mile day with some surprising elevation. We will do Rabbit Ears Pass on Sunday which can be anywhere from 35 – 65 miles. Some folks may want to do a shorter day and ride the Yellow Jacket Pass to Oak Creek route. It is not part of the scheduled tour, but the ride up to Gore Pass could be done on your own. Monday will be the Clark/Steamboat Lake ride. This is an out and back that will allow people to turn around as needed for their plans to return home. Trip can be moderate to advanced / moderate depending on the routes you choose. Maps will be provided for all noted routes. If there are weather considerations, we may switch routes.

On Saturday from 4:30 pm to 5:30 pm there will be a social hour at the Nordic Lodge. There are usually some snacks left over, so we will finish them off on Sunday. All other meals are on your own. This tour is not sag supported, so be sure you have all the tools you need for any tire or bike repair – and plenty of food, water and clothes for the weather conditions.

Tour Leader: Diane Short For more information contact Diane @ 303-763-9874 or email dianbike@eazy.net Please fill out the DBTC OTT Registration form and Medical form that is available online at www.dbtc.org and send with your check for $175 made out to Diane Short (Not DBTC). If you are not yet a member of DBTC, please fill out membership forms and mail those with your dues to the DBTC treasurer.

Fruita Spring Getaway, May 14-18, 2011

Wild trails in remote canyons .....

Jeff Baysinger

Yes, the winter was long enough! Yes, now is the time to start getting out. Now is the time to set a goal. A goal to do longer rides this year, as those longer day rides feel so worthwhile. So, now is the time for your planning. Here is an opportunity to meet that goal. A call for wild dirt trails beckons!

Once again, you can join your single track-riding comrades for a fun weekend near Fruita, Colorado. Trails will be explored in all four directions. Where you stay is your option, but many are expected to be camping in the Colorado National Monument.

Here are the ride details. Arrive to the Grand Junction vicinity by Saturday afternoon to meet the group.

- A first ride starting at 1:00 PM is at Tabeguache trails. The trailhead is about 1 mile from the east entrance to the monument. Join the campout that evening or find your own hotel.
- On Sunday, the group will find the Western Rim trail west of Fruita for a ride start about 9:45 Am. This is the fabled Rabbit Valley trails.
- On Monday, letting the weekend dust settle riders will do the Road 18 Area trails north of Fruita. This is a morning ride, allowing you to finish about noon and return home that afternoon.

But wait, there is more for the adventurous, if that meets your liking.

- Tuesday will find the few, the proud, and the strong riding the full Colorado National Monument Loop. This thrilling road type ride is a must for everyone to do at least once in his or her life. This asphalt surface ride is about 34 miles long with 2800' of elevation gain.

With 4 solid days of riding under your belt, your plans for getting into summer condition are going to be realized. But wait, there is even more!

- If you can stay around one more day, Wednesday will find you doing a new trail exploration. This day you will be exploring the one, the only, the enticing Flight of Icarus trail. This trail is normally open until about June 1. The trailhead is off the Douglas Pass Road northwest of Fruita. A car shuttle will be set-up. Those exploring this trail will find themselves riding along 500' sheer Book Cliffs and then flying down knife-edges. This is dependent on spring weather, as this ride is higher in elevation. There is an alternative trail by Palisades. However, the day is so close to June 1 that our expectations are high.

So now, here is the reckoning. For the few, the proud, the dusty trail riders, if you can do all these 5 days, you are ready for long summer day rides. To verify attendance, contact Jeff Baysinger at 303-969-9241. Group camping plans must be made by May 10th. Hiking is always an option during the 5 days for those who want to explore "hike only trails" in the Colorado National Monument.
